NEW JURY IN SORENSON CASE

In the civil division of the district court this morning Judge T. D. Lewis, sitting for Judge Howell, excused all jurors not empaneled to try the case of Ogden vs. Carl Sorenson, until next Monday morning, which indicates that Judge Lewis will not try more than the case at bar this week.

The case of Ogden against Carl Sorenson for the condemnation of certain property used in the opening of Hudson avenue is the second of its kind tried by Judge Lewis, it being stated that there will likely be two other similar cases to be heard.

At the beginning of the trial this morning the attorney for the defendant confessed the necessity of opening the avenue and that the city had the right, under the law, to condemn the defendant's property for that purpose, the amount of ground taken was agreed by the parties to be 3.05 front feet, situated on the corner of Hudson avenue and Twenty-fifth street. This resolves the issues to be heard by the jury purely to the question of the value of the ground, and the property upon the ground that was displaced in the transaction.

In answer, the defendant claims that the property is worth $1,000 per front foot, the west wall of the structure on the ground that was torn down and rebuilt is valued by the defendant at $1,200, the value of the rental on the premises, impeded three months, is considered to be worth $60 per month and the eviction from the use of the building is valued at $180. Aside from these amounts, the defendant asks judgment for the costs of the suit.

At the outset it was stipulated by the attorneys that the jury who tried the case of the city against Ellen J. Stevens, in which judgment was rendered last week, should be excused from service in the present controversy. The court rather demurred to excusing these jurors on the grounds that, in the opinion of the court, they would be better jurors in the present case than would those jurors who have heard nothing of the question of values in the vicinity of the property sought to be condemned. The court stated, however, that, inasmuch as the attorneys had stipulated that the jury be excused, the order would be made.

"I cannot see for the life of me, though," said Judge Lewis, "why these eight jurors should be excused from service on this case. They are not disqualified from acting in this case and it seems to me that they would be the very best jurymen we could get."

The jurors selected to hear the evidence in the case are: Fred L. Sanborn, G. H. Butler, William H. Davis, Moroni Sken, Clarence E. Story, Thomas W. Peck, Peter M. Folkman and Henry Huseman.

E. F. Bratz and Carl Rasmussen, real estate dealers, testified this afternoon that Mr. Sorenson's property on Twenty-fifth street and Hudson avenue is worth, without improvements, $1,000 per front foot. Mr. Sorenson testified that the rebuilding of the brick wall torn down for the opening of Hudson avenue cost him $500, and that the replacing of the water and sewer pipes cost him $125.

It is thought that the case will be concluded this evening.

MEMORIAL TO ABE LINCOLN

Washington, Nov. 22.—Senator Shelby M. Culom, one of the few surviving contemporaries of Abraham Lincoln in public life, purposes to set the wheels in motion the coming winter for a memorial to the great Civil War president that will be the grandest any nation in the world has provided for one of its heroes. It is intended that the memorial, to be erected in the capital city, shall be far more imposing than that to General Grant, now nearing completion. Senator Culom wants to live to see the Lincoln memorial movement launched and its completion assured.

A bill appropriating money for the site and the memorial itself will be introduced by the Illinois senator soon after congress reconvenes, and it is his purpose to push it to passage before the close of the session.

NEEDS MORE MONEY TO ENFORCE LAWS

State Pure Food Bureau Will Ask Legislature to Provide Funds for Its Work.

Salt Lake, Nov. 22.—With hands tied because of lack of funds, the state pure food bureau and the state food and dairy commission will go to the forthcoming legislature with a plea for more money and suggestions for a few minor changes in the state pure food laws. Willard Hanson, jr., state food and dairy commissioner, said yesterday that this will be one of the most important petitions of the pure food department of the state government—that money be provided to carry out the law.

"Taken as a whole," said Commissioner Hanson yesterday, "the food and dairy laws of Utah are as good or better than those of other states. But we cannot enforce the laws. For instance, the laws says that all cattle shall be inspected, stamped and marked when slaughtered for human consumption. This is done for the protection of the public. But we have not the funds to make these inspections.

"The law provides that no milk shall be sent to the market from cows that are unclean or live in unsanitary surroundings. This means that we should make inspections throughout the state, and insist that the farmers keep their places and their cows in a sanitary condition. But we are unable to do this because of lack of funds.

"For the two departments, the last legislature appropriated $11,000 or $5,000 for each year. Out of that we have the incidental expenses of the department, office rent and salaries to be paid. And when that is cared for we are not able to follow out the provisions of the laws. Why, in Salt Lake City alone more money is paid than is provided to the state bureaus for the enforcement of pure food measures. We simply cannot do the work.

"In the biennial report of the commission now being prepared, which will be submitted to the Governor by the middle of December, we will make several suggestions, as to changes in the present laws, and will ask for some new provisions. But we will have to get money from the state before we are able to carry out the law's provisions. We certainly will make a plea for more money."

The state food and dairy commission and the pure food bureau have held several meetings preparing the report, but will not finish their work for about ten days.

TOWN IS IN THE WRONG STATE

Kansas City, Nov. 22.—Efforts of liquor interests to entrench themselves in East Atchison, across the river from this town, led to an investigation which may result in showing the village to be in Kansas rather than Missouri. East Atchison, which has been credited as Missouri soil, has less than a hundred inhabitants but boasts of eight liquor houses.

Plans to locate breweries in East Atchison set on foot a claim that the Missouri river has shifted from the state line but did not change the boundary. This would place East Atchison in Kansas City and subject to the prohibition laws of the state.

GRAHAME-WHITE AT BOXING BOUT

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, society boxer, gave an exhibition with the gloves in his private gymnasium for Claude Grahame-White, the aviator, and his aviation kinsman, J. Armstrong Drexel, yesterday. There were three bouts, in two of which Biddle took part. A selective audience of about twenty-five witnessed them. They were the first that Grahame-White had seen since coming to this country.

The first bout, which went three rounds, was between Biddle and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien. The rounds were fast and full of action. O'Brien and the amateur indulged in a swift interchange of blows to the face. In the third and last bout, O'Brien tapped Biddle on the ear smartly enough to draw blood.

The second bout was between "Danny" Hutchinson, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania football team and former champion heavyweight boxer of the university, and Byron Hayes, who has knocked out Sailor Burke and defeated Peter Maher.

Having rested during the second bout, Biddle took on "Jim" Daly, former heavyweight champion of Pennsylvania and one-time sparring partner of Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries. The bout went two rounds. Daly tipped the scales at 210.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Mike Mensie, lightweight, has been matched to fight ten rounds with Harry Donohue at Peoria on Thursday night.

LIMITS TO WHICH LAWYERS MAY GO

New York, Nov. 22.—The limits to which lawyers may go in looking for business are likely to be outlined by the appellate division of the supreme court as the result of a letter written to the New York Law Journal. The firm sent out a letter asking for business from a corporation and the letter was sent to the Law Journal and published along with an editorial criticism.

Another letter asking for probate business, which was sent to a woman on the day after all her household died, was published at the same time. The Law Journal said the grievance committee of the bar association would receive such letters for filing and for action if necessary.

The firm in their letter requested the editor of the Law Journal to file with the grievance committee of the bar association "such specific issues as to whether or not our conduct, professionally or otherwise, is a violation of the highest standards of professional or moral ethics possible to maintain in view of the conditions which affect the practice of law in this city—conditions which have been brought about mainly themselves by men to whose wealth or social standing furnish their only substantial claim to prominence in the profession."

The firm asks if it had ever occurred to the editor that nine-tenths of the lawyers of the New York bar would die of dry rot if forced to depend upon their acquaintances for legal business.

The firm declared that if the editor of the Law Journal declined to file specific charges this week, it will make application for a full investigation by the bar association.

In publishing the letter, the editor of the Law Journal said publications will afford the members of the firm an easy way to bring the matter before the grievance committee.

CONFERENCE OF CLINTON WARD

Conference of the Clinton ward was held Sunday, Nov. 20, under the direction of President Lewis W. Shortliff.

Bishop Orlando Hadlock's report showed the people to be progressing and progressive. They are building a new meeting house that would be a pride to any community. It has basement rooms for class work and a large assembly room upstairs for services. It is lighted by electricity and heated with hot water. The cost when completed will be something over $15,000.

President Shortliff complimented them upon the good work that is being done and urged them to even greater effort in their upward and onward course.

Other visitors who spoke words of encouragement and praise were Thos. A. Shreve, James W. Ure, Jr., and James McFarland.

TWO DYNAMITE EXPLOSIONS FORCE FAMILY TO LEAVE

Kansas City, Nov. 22.—Fred Schlie, a foreman at the workshop farm has been driven from his quarters, along with his family, as the result of two dynamite explosions yesterday. Two hours apart heavy charges of dynamite were exploded near the foreman's quarters, where he lived with his wife and son. The family was sleeping, but at daylight left the farm and may not return. Schlie says there has been friction with other employees.

EXTENDING THE WATER MAINS

The action of the city council last evening indicates that it is the intention of the present city administration to extend water mains to the residents of Ogden as rapidly as possible. It was decided to extend eastward on Twelfth street as far as No. 987, as soon as the force of men attending to that part of the city's work can be utilized. It is probable that this work cannot be done before early spring, but, in the meantime, other work of importance is being done in the extension of the water system.

A force of men is now at work on Adams avenue and Twelfth street, but it will be impossible to finish the work there before the latter part of this week. As soon as the Adams avenue and Twelfth street mains are laid, as many men as can be handled will be put to work on the West Ogden extension. The material is on hand for this job and it will be prosecuted rapidly.

The extension to West Ogden covers a distance of about 6,000 feet, embracing all the territory west of Wall avenue to the city limits. It is anticipated that about 25 men can be used on the work. If the weather continues favorable, the main can be laid in about four weeks' time. It will be an eight-inch main, which will carry enough water to supply the inhabitants of that section. It is said that there are about 70 residents in the western part of the city anxious to get the water to their homes.

The people of West Ogden were some time ago promised the first water main extension importance and the city fathers are keeping their word. It will cost considerable to build the mains but the property owners are certain that it will prove to be a good investment for the city, and will also serve the purpose of modernizing the homes of West Ogden and give better fire protection. The railroad yards will have to be crossed in the building of the line, and it will be quite a task to dig the trenches under the tracks. The Twelfth street extension is promised to follow the West Ogden work.

"SOCIETY NIGHT AT THE ORPHEUM"

Last night the Orpheum theater was a scene of gay festivity, for society folk formed the principal part of the audience. Box parties and the other parties were very much in evidence and the beautiful theater was filled with Ogden's most select society. The bill at the Orpheum this week is a very good one, and was enjoyed by every one present.

SUDDEN ENDING OF HONEYMOON

The honeymoon of John McDermott, a former conductor on the Union Pacific, was brought to a sudden end last evening when he was arrested, a few hours after his marriage to Miss Alta Woolsey, on the charge of having forged and passed more than a half dozen checks aggregating more than $100.

McDermott's operations are claimed by the police to have been the boldest ever perpetrated by a forger in this city and the investigation so far has disclosed the fact that the man has been passing the bogus paper about the city since Saturday. The police were not notified of the illegal operations until noon yesterday and the arrest of McDermott was accomplished by Detective Burke, six hours later.

He is now locked up at the city jail pending preliminary hearing and his bride, who was not aware of the man's crooked dealings, is overcome with grief. McDermott's plan was to purchase a small bill of goods and submit one of the bogus checks in payment, making the balance of the check in cash or legitimate paper.

The police at this time are unable to ascertain just when McDermott began his operations or to what extent his operations McDermott hired a horse and buggy at the Dee livery on Twenty-fourth street and it was this fact which led to his arrest.

The following is a partial list of those who were together with the amounts of the checks passed on each party: Jones Coal & Ice Company, $20.00; Mrs. Zillah Jones, $26.00; George McBride, $10.00; D. A. Smyth, two checks, $27.00; Mrs. Mary J. Leavitt, $26.00.

In several of the cases the name of James Halverson, assistant cashier of the Ogden State Bank, was forged to the checks and for this reason the parties did not question the validity of the paper. The forgery in these cases was therefore not discovered until they reached the bank on which they had apparently been drawn.

It is believed that other bad checks were passed after this but apparently McDermott ceased his "get-rich-quick" game long enough yesterday afternoon to get married. Shortly before 3 o'clock he and Miss Woolsey appeared at the county clerk's office. A marriage license was procured and McDermott expressed a desire to be married on the spot. Deputy County Clerk John Bligh therefore performed the ceremony in the presence of newspaper representatives.

When it was learned that a man had exchanged horses at the Dee barn earlier in the afternoon and had not yet returned the second outfit, Detective Burke was stationed to keep a lookout for the forger. His vigil was rewarded shortly after 6 o'clock when McDermott was returned with the rig. He was promptly placed under arrest and taken to police headquarters.

There he was confronted with unmistakable evidence of his guilt and a full and complete confession was secured from him. The forger claims to be 35 years of age and appears prosperous. Although the officers have been unable to establish this as a fact. It is believed by the police that he is an ex-convict.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mr. J. A. Stinson of Stinson's Cafe wishes to announce to the public, while waiting for the Peery building to be completed on the corner of Hudson avenue and Twenty-fifth street, he will open an up-to-date cafe about Saturday, Nov. 26th, at No. 2450 Grant Ave., just around the corner from Carr's Drug store. Mr. A. G. Fell has just completed this building for Mr. Stinson and it will be hard to find a better appointed little Cafe in Ogden. Remember next Saturday—

GOODMAN IS BOUND OVER

Charged with forgery, James Goodman was given his preliminary hearing in the municipal court this morning and bound over to the District court under a bond of $500. In the face of the most positive evidence, Goodman maintains that he is innocent and will make a hard fight for his liberty.

Goodman entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Judge J. D. Murphy and was defended by Attorney George Halverson. County Attorney David Jensen placed on the stand, as the chief witness for the prosecution, Mrs. Catherine Greiner. Mrs. Greiner stated that she conducted the rooming house where Goodman had lodged before his arrest. She told of the man giving her a check for $21.85 which she cashed. Part of the amount was credited to the rental of the room and a balance of $14.85 was given to Goodman in cash. The story of Mrs. Greiner was substantiated by the testimony of her daughter, who witnessed the transaction between her mother and the roomer.

Robert A. Mayes, cashier of the Commercial National bank, was called to the stand and testified as a handwriting expert that, to the best of his judgment, the handwriting on the bogus check and the indorsement on the back of the paper were executed by the same person.

The check was dated October 22, and was drawn on the J. G. Read Brothers firm. J. O. Read, secretary of the company, was placed on the stand and swore that the check in question had not been issued by the Read firm.

While about a dozen pieces of worthless paper are alleged to have been passed by Goodman, he will be tried for the Greiner case alone and no other witnesses were introduced by the state. The defense offered no witnesses.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT AT PICTURE THEATRES

Any one unable to get their full money's worth in the picture theaters this week is surely very hard to please. "A Trip Over the Rocky Mountains," "A Trip Through Scotland," "A Day on the French Battleship Justice," all interesting scenic and educational pictures. "The Vampire," a picture dramatization of Sir Ed. Borne-Jones' famous painting "Abraham Lincoln's Clemency," a story of the Civil War founded on fact.

A magnificently colored Bible story, "The Woman of Samaria," "A Mexican Legend," a beautiful drama depicting an old legend that is famous in that superstitious country.

The big special feature at the Globe this week is the "World's Series Championship Baseball Games"—every ball fan in the country will want to see this picture. It will be at the Globe all week.

These excellent feature pictures with many other good ones extra good music and pretty songs make a very pleasant hour's entertainment. Matinees 2:30 to 5; evenings 7 to 11 p. m.

IMPERSONATOR OF ABE LINCOLN

A rare treat is in store for the lovers of Abraham Lincoln in the coming to Ogden of Benjamin Chapin, the greatest student and impersonator of the martyred president in America. Mr. Chapin will give a Lincoln entertainment in the High school auditorium on the night of November 29, which will be attended not only by hundreds of school children, but by many of the older citizens of the town.

Mr. Chapin has made the study of Lincoln and the impersonation of the great emancipator a life work. Having a natural likeness in figure and face, Mr. Chapin has, by the historic art made himself into an exact counterpart of the late president. Old men, who in their early years knew Lincoln personally, have been amazed by the sight of him again in the person of Chapin. It is claimed that Chapin has succeeded in impersonating not only figure and face of the president but his voice as well.

Having committed to memory most of the characteristic speeches and public utterances of Lincoln, the impersonator is able to give to his audience an hour's visit with the greatest of America's statesmen.

HARRIMAN PEOPLE OWN NORTH COAST

Portland, Ore., Nov. 22.—The financial interests backing the mysterious North Coast railroad, which for years has been a source of great speculation are again positively asserted to be the group of financiers who were behind the late E. H. Harriman. Definite announcement to the controlling interests in the road probably will be made, it is said, within a few days.

According to the present story, the North Coast will become a portion of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company line, to be used as a feeder
